

PAVING PLAN
PASSED UPON
BY COUNCILDecember 1st Set for Public Hearing

Passing upon two resolutions of intention concerning an order for improvement of several city streets at a special meeting last Monday night, the city council agreed upon December 1st as the date for hearing of any objections by property owners along the specified streets and also agreed upon December 15th as the opening date for bids on the actual improvement work.

Streets under consideration are as follows:

Job No. 1—All of Adams Park drives, North Fifth street and Valencia Place between the park and Covina boulevard, and the south side of part of Covina boulevard and the east side of part of Hollenbeck. No gutters are to be placed except along the North Fifth street and Valencia Place projects.

Job No. 2—College street, one block between First street and San Jose, without guttering.

The resolution reads to the effect that the city of Covina announces intention to order improvement of the various streets before described and will issue bonds for the cost and expenses. The bonds will pay seven per cent per annum for a period of 10 years, as provided in the improvement act of 1911, and will be issued against each parcel amounting to $25 or more. These bonds, according to F. C. Monroe, assistant to Arthur Ellis, street engineer and technical advisor, will be subject to the payment of interest due plus six months additional interest. They are identical to the type of street bonds issued in the city of Los Angeles.

The resolution describes the construction as being 2½-inch oil and macadam (the same as county roads hereabouts), with three layers of rock and two layers of oil, to make the surface thoroughly impervious. Maps and blueprints accompanying the resolution reveal the exact location of the improvement.

Any objections to the present plans as adopted by the city council will have to be written out and placed in the hands of the city clerk, John Hutchinson, before December 1st, the time of the hearing in the city hall.

NEON SIGN DESIGNED

Councilman Davis, who was present at the meeting, produced a layout of the proposed neon sign to be placed somewhere near Alosta and Citrus avenues, Covina, to point toward this city from the vein of traffic running along Foothill boulevard.

The sign, according to layout, is 7½ feet long and 3½ feet high. The letters, Covina, are oblong and in red, and a blue arrow below points in the proper direction. The cost, including post and fittings, will be $225. It is planned to suspend the face of the sign out from the post by means of brackets. The plans were submitted by the Q. R. S. Neon Sign corporation of Los Angeles, designers of the Covina-Baldwin Park sign now located in El Monte on Valley boulevard.

Because of the fact that construction and improvement of North Citrus avenue is still going on in the vicinity of the proposed location of this sign, no definite spot will be chosen until sometime later.

Whittier Poets
Defeat Pomona
by 33-6 Score

In the first Whittier college victory over Pomona since the year 1921, Coach Wallace Newman's Poet team trounced its ancient rival 33 to 6 Tuesday afternoon at Hadley field. Playing the best football of their present season, Whittier gridders tore thru the Sagehens' line for large gains and rolled up five touchdowns against one for Pomona. Krueger was the outstanding ball carrier of the day, making three of the Poets' touchdowns. Mashburn and Duncan made the other two touchdowns for Whittier, and Baynham, left half for Pomona, made their only score.

This victory of the varsity team leaves them a chance for the championship. Tomorrow at 2:15 o'clock the Poets go to La Verne for a meeting on Arnett field.

Christmas Plans to Be Made by Business Men

At the last meeting of the Covina Merchants' association last week, plans were discussed regarding a Christmas festival program for this city next month.

Streets will be decorated in holiday style over a period of several weeks before and after Christmas, and entertainment of some sort, possibly in the form of a carnival, will be maintained.

Details will be told at the next Thursday meeting of the business men in the city hall, according to Ray W. Nichols, secretary.

Old Associates
in Telegraphy
Meet at Thorpes

Assembling at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben F. Thorpe Sunday afternoon, forty old employees of the Western Union Telegraph company of Los Angeles held their annual meeting. Mr. and Mrs. Thorpe both were in the employ of Western Union in the 90's.

A number of prominent people were there assembled, all of whom were once workers in the identical company.

Mayor J. C. Porter of Los Angeles spoke of his early days with Western Union. Oscar Lawler, formerly government district attorney, also described a few of his experiences when he was just getting a start in life.

J. C. Shearer of Glendale, former manager of the telegraph office, presided over the gathering and gave several interesting reminiscences himself. He entered the employ of the company in 1875, and was a charter member of the first telephone division formed in Los Angeles.

Harry Bender, William Fischer, William Kane, Joseph Lyons, E. P. Gould, and many others were present. Many of the old-time workers were connected with Western Union.

Mr. Thorpe was elected president of the group for the ensuing year, and Joseph Lyons of Los Angeles, now with Pacific Electric, was elected secretary.

Letters and telegrams of regret were received from General Frank Prescott; Dr. Frank Barham, editor of the Evening Herald; Jennie Adams of Laguna Beach; and James Irving, retiring president, who is now touring Mexico with his wife.

An orchestra was furnished by Western Union, and refreshments were served later in the evening.

Club Flower
Section Meets at Beattie Home

The garden section of the Woman's club met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. C. H. Beattie on Rowland avenue. There was an attendance of forty-two. Following reports from the flower show, Mrs. J. D. Bixby gave a report on the Pasadena flower show. She told of many lovely new varieties of roses, daffodils and waterlilies. Mrs. C. E. Crawford read the list of plantings for November, which include sweetpeas for spring, poppies, sweet alyssum, and lawn seed.

Mrs. Alice Clapp, accompanied by Miss Edna Hanna, sang, "The Old-Fashioned Garden" and "In the Garden."

The members enjoyed Mrs. Beattie's gardens, which at all times of the year contain rare and lovely blossoms.

Country Club Plans
Affairs for Members

Mountain Meadows country club has planned some interesting affairs for its members during November.

Thursday, the 13th, was the regular bridge luncheon, at 12:30 p. m. Next Thursday, at 7:00 p. m., the regular bridge dinner will be held. A turkey dinner will be served on Thanksgiving day, from 12:00 to 7:30 p. m. The activities of the month will close with a collegiate dance on Friday, the 28th.

Wives of the directors, including Mrs. J. D. Coles and Mrs. Raymond Finch of Covina, will act as hostesses at the bridge luncheon, and the directors and wives will function at the bridge dinner. The collegiate dance is for the members' sons and daughters and their guests.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Stewart of Azusa avenue attended the Covina-Bakersfield football game Tuesday.

MUSICIANS

Render Selections

Members of the Woman's club who were present at the luncheon Monday noon not only enjoyed a social hour, but listened to several interesting speakers preceding the regular program, which on this occasion was musical. The luncheon was served by Miss Hanna and her assistants, Mmes. Griswold, Schornagle, Davis, Jennings, Bertha Phillo, L. G. Daniels, Ralph Richards, Boyles, J. C. Pearson, Gordon, Mowder, and Boal. The table and clubhouse decorations were arranged by Mrs. Lester Jones and Mrs. Minnie Thurber. Mrs. William Warren, the pianist, opened the luncheon program with a short poem on recognizing faces and forgetting names, which each member felt was a happy excuse for that particular failing in herself.

The salute to the flag was led by Mrs. Will Lee Austin, district chairman of motion pictures, who later spoke on "Better Films." At this time Mrs. Austin mentioned the school for previews, held in Hollywood, as a preparation for those judging films. She also mentioned the play sponsored by the headquarters, "Her First Wedding Night," to be given at Grauman's Chinese theater on the 21st, and also "Morocco," a new film that will be shown for the third night on the 28th, both of which are open to members of the federated clubs at a reduced price.

Mrs. Warren spoke of the death of U. S. Sherwood, husband of the district president. Mrs. Sherwood has many friends in Covina, and is a sister of Mrs. Sass, a former resident of this place.

Mrs. Mary M. Coman, chairman of the community sale, announced the date as Saturday, November 22, and told of her plans. Other announcements were made.

Mrs. Howard S. Killian, district chairman of literature, gave a talk on authors and books, stating that November 18th to 21st was national book week. She urged the giving of books as gifts, stating that this was an opportunity to show the personality of the giver.

Miss Margaret Barnard of the county Red Cross gave an introductory talk on the campaign for membership, which was launched Armistice day by Mrs. J. T. Huntington and her corps of workers.

REGULAR CLUB PROGRAM

The musical program of the afternoon was sponsored by Mrs. C. A. Leighton. Miss Blanche Strong of Los Angeles, pianist, was assisted in the first two numbers by a pupil, Graham Edmondson. These numbers were compositions by MacDowell, "Concerto in D Minor" and "Second Movement."

Miss Strong then gave "Ballade" (Reinecke) and a bit later in the program, "Romance" (Schumann), and "Nocturne" (MacDowell).

The vocalist, Miss Margaret Atwater, is always welcomed by Covina audiences, where she has frequently given of her talent thru the courtesy of her aunt, Mrs. Leighton. Miss Atwater was accompanied by Mrs. Ruth Adams Stinson and sang in her first group "In Autumn" (Curran), "Overtones" (Rasbach), and "Thou Art So Like a Flower" (Estelle Miller), responding to an encore with "The Look" (Rasbach). The singer added to the interest of the audience by giving personal glimpses of the authors and their songs.

In the last group Miss Atwater sang "Cherry Ripe" (Horn), "Roses Red in the Garden" (Landon Ronald), and "Oh Golden Sun" (Freeman), following an encore with "I Know" (Curran). Miss Atwater's charming personality and full, rich voice made her half hour of song especially enjoyable.

Housers Return
From Susanville

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Houser returned Wednesday evening to their home on South Citrus avenue from a motor trip to Susanville, where they have been visiting relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Houser recently celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, the trip north and visit among old friends and relatives coming closely upon it.

Citrus Lighting
Plans Discussed
Here Last Night

An important meeting of the city planning commission, the merchants interested in Citrus avenue improvement, and property owners with holdings along that thoroughfare was held in the city hall last night (Thursday), but too late for this publication.

The results of this meeting may probably mean either the success or failure of the lighting proposition. Everyone having an opinion in the matter was asked to report, and a fairly definite idea of how the general public feels about it revealed.

A detailed report of the meeting will appear in next week's issue of the Argus.

G. W. Ritchey to Return With
New Telescope

Professor G. W. Ritchey, whose home ranch is a few miles northwest of Covina, off Bonita avenue, will soon return to the United States and from Valliere, France, with a new telescope which he will set up at Miami, Florida.

According to an article in Sunday's Times, this instrument, which has been designed and assembled by Mr. Ritchey, is called the Ritchey-Chretien twenty-inch telescope. It is said to be revolutionary in that it will eliminate entirely the distortion of out-of-focus images, at the same time retaining proper focus on the central image, producing a photograph that will be microscopically sharp across the entire range of the plate. This telescope has a 54-inch tube, with a focal length of 136 inches, and a clear aperture of 19.9 inches. The mirrors have been ground and corrected especially for celestial photography.

It will be remembered that Professor Ritchey designed and supervised the construction of the great 36-inch telescope at Mount Wilson, near Los Angeles.

Willis Ritchey, son of the inventor, resides on the home place during the absence of the family. Mrs. Ritchey and their daughter, who accompanied Professor Ritchey to France three or four years ago, will return to the United States with him.

Azusa Man Hurt
in Auto Smash

An accident occurred just west of Azusa Wednesday evening when a Packard sedan, driven by Ben Grant of Clovis, ran into a truck driven by Charles Eagle of Soldano avenue, Azusa.

Eagle was the only person injured, receiving a fractured nose and bad cuts about the face. He was just making a turn into a driveway leading to the Owl Fumigating company when Grant, mistaking his intentions, swerved the wrong way and they collided.

Deputies Tucke and Vaughn took charge of the case.

DEATH TAKES
MR. AND MRS.
B. H. PIERCECovina Pioneers Pass
One Day Apart

Lives of two Covina residents, closely linked for thirty-five years as husband and wife, closed this week with the death of Benjamin H. Pierce and Cora Bell Pierce. The former died at his home at 155 Orange street Tuesday morning, November 11th, and the latter passed away the following evening.

Mr. Pierce had been in his accustomed health until the past month, when a weakness of the heart confined him to the house. He was able to be around, however, and had just assisted his invalid wife when he was stricken. Mrs. Pierce had been in ill health for three years, and her passing had been expected for some time. She was conscious of her husband's death, however, and with unusual mental activity directed the details of the funeral.

Benjamin H. Pierce was born at Lyndonville, Vermont, September 26, 1860, the eldest son of Roswell Pierce, Jr., and Lois Kilby Pierce. At the age of twelve his father died and for several years the boy lived with an uncle, T. H. Kilby, of Walpole, New Hampshire.

Cora Bell Burnham was born at Waupaca, Wisconsin, May 12, 1867, the daughter of David and Isabel Burnham. When a small child she moved with her parents to Vermont.

Mr. and Mrs. Pierce were married at St. Johnsbury, Vermont, June 11, 1885. They came to California in 1908, making their home in Covina and residing on Orange street for nearly twenty years. Mr. Pierce was employed by Warner & Whistler, grocers, for several years, and the following fifteen years by the Covina Citrus association.

Mrs. Pierce was a woman of unusual ability, respected and loved by a wide circle of friends. To the neighborhood and old friends Mr. Pierce was affectionately known as "Uncle Ben."

Surviving Mr. Pierce are a brother and a sister, Elias Pierce of Baldwin Park and Mrs. Ellen McFarland of Covina; an uncle, T. H. Kilby of Walpole, N. H.; and a nephew and niece, Tracy Phillips and Mrs. Carrie Thompson of Everett, Washington. Mrs. Pierce is survived by a niece, Mrs. Hazel Sprotte of Covina.

Double funeral service will be held this (Friday) afternoon at 2 o'clock, at Christiansen & Moore's chapel, conducted by their pastor, Rev. H. T. Lewis of the Covina Methodist church. Mrs. Charlotte Naftel will be soloist, and interment will be in Oakdale cemetery.

Large Crowd of Covinans Trek
to Bakersfield

Approximately four hundred Covinans celebrated Armistice day last Tuesday by following the "Colts" to Bakersfield to witness the annual clash of north and south prep representatives, Bakersfield high and Covina high.

Two hundred traveled via the Southern Pacific special train, which left this city at 6 o'clock Tuesday morning and arrived in the north-city at 12:30 afternoon, according to Henry Clark. One hundred sixty-six were adult fares, twelve were half fares, and about twenty-five were passes. Two traveled by air, Tex Gentry and Charles Ham, and the remaining two hundred went by automobile.

Practically all of Covina's business houses were closed Tuesday, and those people who remained at home were reminded of "The Deserted City." With the combined help of loyal Covinans and Harold Teen in the funny paper, the Colts are rather well backed, as a rule.

Lions Club Hears
Talk by Edwin Jobe

The Lions club met at the Stone Lantern, as usual, for its Monday luncheon. Edwin Jobe was speaker, entertaining the club with an account of his 15,000-mile automobile trip, taking him thru the United States and into Canada, Cuba and Mexico.

Third Rainfall of Season Begins
Here Yesterday

The third rainfall of the season visited Covina valley yesterday, beginning about 11:30 o'clock, and doing thousands of dollars worth of good to local groves and fields.

The first rain came September 30th, amounting to only a light shower. The second break in the dry season, however, was a down-pour, falling October 9th and 10th and amounting to practically one-fourth of an inch.

As we go to press precipitation continues in a steady shower, with clouds showing no sign of breaking.

Dr. Magan Shows
Films at Dinner
for Presbyterians

Dr. Shaen S. Magan, moving picture enthusiast, showed 1600 feet of film Wednesday evening following the monthly dinner at the Presbyterian church. The views Dr. Magan exhibited were mostly taken on a trip taken last summer by himself and family, to the north rim of the Grand canyon and the Kaibab forest into Utah, and thru the Yellowstone national park into Idaho, where Mrs. Magan has relatives.

Dr. Magan used both the close-up lens and the telephoto for long distances, and in this way his films give the minute details of the scenery, as well as the formation of the rocks. The party left the automobile on the edge of the Kaibab for an aeroplane trip over this wonderful forest. Animals in their native haunts and flowers and incidents of camp life made the trip realistic.

"Old Faithful" in Yellowstone was seen in action, as well as seething pools and mud geysers. The beautiful scenery of the Teton range, Jackson Hole, and the Snake river was traversed.

Industrially, harvesters were at work in the fields of near in Utah, and the immense wheat fields along the Columbia river highway, on the return trip, were shown. The last stage was thru the California redwoods.

A beautiful climax to the pictures was a roll taken in kodachrome, showing the natural colorings of the rocks and greenery.

Dr. Magan closed his travel lecture by showing a film taken, on a previous trip, at Death Valley Scotty's castle.

Puente Walnut House
to Close Tomorrow

La Puente walnut packing house will take no more deliveries after tomorrow. The total yield for the 1930 walnut season in the Covina-Puente area, originally estimated at 1700 tons, will probably reach 1800 tons, or 50 per cent of last year's crop.

Deliveries of walnuts have dropped off perceptibly during the last few days. Owing to the small crop and completion of the local harvest, there will be only one pool this year.

While this season's prices average about one cent higher than last year, they are below the past five-year average.

Third Lecture Given in School Auditorium

The third lecture by Dr. Regina Westcott in the series on "Human Relationships" was given Tuesday evening at the grammar school auditorium. In this talk the speaker considered the physical side of human relationships, bringing a practical discussion of the subject. Improper care of the body and weak physical standards were given as largely responsible for unhappy relationships. Rules for proper bodily exercise were given and demonstrated from the platform. Sufficient oxygen in the body to give mental activity was also stressed.

The fourth lecture in this series will be given next Tuesday evening at the same place and hour.

High School P. T. A.
Unit to Hold Meeting

The first meeting for the season of the high school Parent-Teacher association will be called Monday evening at 7:30. Linn Wheeler Hattersley, B.D. and M.A., will be the speaker for the evening, talking on "Student Guidance." Mr. Hattersley is student counselor at the Pasadena junior college and his talks are of especial interest to upper classmen and parents.

BAKERSFIELD
OVER COVINAColts Defeated After
Two Victories

Working against the unusual handicap of only three days rest since the playing of the Riverside game, as compared with a seventeen-day rest period for Bakersfield since the playing of their last game, Covina was unable to hold the Drillers last Tuesday at Bakersfield, and allowed them two touchdowns.

The Colts seemed unable to complete operations at the critical time to even the score, altho in two instances they practically pushed the ball over their opponents' goal line.

Covina made considerably more yardage from both scrimmage and passes than Bakersfield, gaining a total of 328 yards to the Drillers 259—and in one case even completed a pass behind the rival goal line, but it was called a few feet out of bounds and therefore not counted.

DRILLERS SCORE FIRST
In the first quarter, after a long kick to Bakersfield's 17-yard line, the Drillers got their way over 83 yards in seven downs for the first touchdown.

Payne, Bakersfield star fullback, ran 29 yards to their 46-yard line. Then Delfino, half, carried the ball another 15 yards to Covina's 39-yard line and for first down. Delfino was held for no gain, and Payne went to the five-yard line in another plunge for first down. Payne again made two yards to the Covina three-yard line, Delfino went another yard to the two-yard line, and Payne took the ball over for the score. Covina's first possession was a punt in favor of Bakersfield.

The second touchdown was completed just after the opening of the third quarter. Bakersfield kicked off to Covina, but the Colts were unable to make any yardage, so Fischer punted to Payne. He ran 25 yards to Covina's 30-yard line; then Rankin went one yard, Delfino one yard, and Payne passed to Lahey, captain and end, for 14 yards on Covina 14-yard line. Rankin went three yards, Payne two yards more, and finally Payne passed to Lahey for eight yards and the second score. Conversion again failed, making the score 12 to 0.

COVINA NEAR SCORING
As before noted, Covina barely missed scoring on two occasions. One, at the end of the third and the beginning of the fourth quarters, Covina started from their 35-yard line and pushed to Bakersfield's three-yard line in seven downs. A pass from Fischer was caught by Griffin behind Bakersfield's goal line, but was not counted as a touchdown because it was contacted only a few feet out of bounds.

Again in the last quarter, Covina started from their 18-yard line and worked up to Bakersfield's 1-yard line by a number of spectacular plunges by Wad Timmons. Then, on the fourth down, the Colts were pushed back two yards and the ball went to Bakersfield.

Oranges Sizing
Up About Same as Last Year

According to a bulletin issued by Dr. Charles D. Samuels, soil chemist, the navels in the districts of Covina, San Dimas, North Whittier Heights, and La Verne are sizing almost identical with last year's figures. The fruit is now averaging 2.50 inches in diameter (252 per box) with only a slight difference in the various districts reported.

The average growth for all the districts is 0.28 inches for the month of October.

In the Covina district the average size for October 1st was 2.238 inches; for November 1st, 2.496; and is expected to attain 2.519 inches by the end of this month. The average growth for the Covina district is 0.257 inches.

The valencias show a growth in the entire district for October that is almost identical with last year (0.20 inches), with sizing 0.05 greater than in 1929-1930.

In the Covina district the valencias sized 1.771 inches to October 1st; 1.965 to November 1st; with an expectancy of 1.799 for this month. The average growth was 0.194 inches.

Rotary to Sponsor Three-Act Comedy

Announcement was made this week by Elbert Griffith that the Rotary club, of which he is president, will sponsor a play to be presented in the high school auditorium December 5th. The play, a comedy of three acts entitled "Engaged," will be given by members of last year's graduating class of the School of the Theater, Pasadena Community Playhouse. The play has already been produced very successfully in Corona and Alhambra. Taking a leading part in the play is Miss Wickizer, daughter of E. O. Wickizer, publisher of the Covina Citizen.

It was stated that the purpose of this presentation is not for the raising of funds, but to give to Covina audiences a well-acted, worth-while play.

Service Clubs Help in Sale of Tickets

In order that the five-dollar banquet to be given Saturday night by the Woman's club may be put over in a big way, Ben F. Thorpe, president of the chamber of commerce, and his members put on a drive Wednesday for sale of tickets. They were assisted by committees from the other service clubs in Covina, including the Lions, Rotarians and Business and Professional women. The proceeds of the banquet will be applied on the principal of the debt for repairing the clubhouse.

At the program following the dinner Mrs. Mab Copeland Lineman, attorney, will speak on "Foundations of Success." Readings will be given by Maryedith Rurrell of Azusa and Spanish dances by Mrs. George Simcoff of Covina.

Do Your Christmas Shopping Early—

The slogan "Do Your Christmas Shopping Early" has a genuine importance this year. Usually it is merely a reminder that if you delay too long in selecting the things you intend to give at Christmas you run the risk of finding the things you want out of stock. This year it means that putting money into circulation at once will hasten the return of "good times."

"Buy Now for Prosperity" is being seized with a whoop by the nation's business men in an attempt to loosen the national purse strings. Even President Hoover has offered his suggestion that a great national campaign of repairing and painting be begun. There are many houses and other buildings that are in need of repair and painting, and the money spent on such things is money well invested.

"Buy Now" is not an invitation to reckless spending, but sound advice to all who are able to spend. Hundreds of thousands of Americans are destitute in the midst of plenty, only because the banks of the country are full of idle money. The idea is to start that money moving.

"The difference between prosperity and hard times," says the Literary Digest, "is $1 per week per capita." If every wage-earner would spend a little more than usual, an enormous flood of money would be undammed. First to benefit would be the retailer, who then would order more goods from the manufacturer. Next the manufacturer, finding orders piling up, would employ men now idle. In turn, the newly-employed workmen would add a part of their wages to the money in circulation. Thus the army of unemployed would vanish, and a "virtuous circle" would replace the "vicious" one which is blamed for our economic woe.

Such, at least, is the theory, and a majority of our editors seem to be wholeheartedly behind the "Spend an Extra Dollar" campaign.

Cross Intersections Carefully—

Fifty per cent of the total number of automobile accidents occur at intersections, we are told by the safety conference of the California state chamber of commerce. This fact is particularly important in this district where road crossings are so often obstructed by dense orange foliage, making it impossible to see whether or not traffic is coming from other directions at the time an approach is made at an intersection.

If the danger of the crossing was fully realized by automobile drivers this percentage could be materially reduced. The law prescribes the proper approach and crossing of an intersection, but cannot guarantee the necessary obedience to make them entirely safe. This vital factor lies wholly in the hands of the motoring public.

Everyone recalls the tragic crash of the school bus on Glendora and Juanita streets, in which a 14-year-old girl lost her life—due to obstruction of view as well as lack of care on the part of both drivers. Such accidents are altogether too frequent, and could be very easily avoided by slowing down at such dangerous corners in observance of the right-of-way law.

That law reads as follows: The driver of a vehicle approaching an intersection shall yield the right of way to a vehicle which has entered the intersection. When two vehicles enter at the same time, the driver of the vehicle on the left shall yield to the driver on the right.

Only nineteen states have motor vehicle death rates that are higher than California's. The rate of California is 1.81 deaths for every million gallons of gasoline consumed. North Dakota has the lowest rate with .80, and West Virginia the highest with 2.62. California motorists consumed approximately 1,241,000,000 gallons of gas during 1929 and there were 2244 deaths.

Declare War on Citrus Pests—

Altho cultivation of citrus fruit is a most complicated procedure—far more complicated than the average marketer realizes—the income from locally-grown fruit this year is unusually encouraging, amounting to $3,050,000 for the Covina area alone. It is believed by those familiar with state-wide citrus culture that net returns for the crop just shipped will probably exceed those of any other year.

But the problems confronting the grower continue to bob up, year after year, demanding his attention and threatening his profit if he does not keep alert. Fertilization, irrigation, frost protection, picking, packing and shipping—all must be considered in their season, as well as the continual threat of insect pests.

The United States department of agriculture is carrying on valuable research for the benefit of American growers. C. L. Marlatt, chief of the bureau of entomology, is the particular foe of billbugs, shuckworms, cotton flea hoppers, weevils and borers of various kinds and appetites, as well as several varieties of citrus pests which it is the bureau's duty to destroy.

The theory just now being worked on is that for every pest there is a parasite which will aid in its eradication. Some of these costly creatures are 100 per cent American, but others are alien.

The citrus black fly is a nuisance in the United States, hence P. A. Berry, of the bureau, is in Santiago, Cuba, rearing and colonizing parasites and creatures that prey on the fly. At Kuala Lumpur, Malay States, C. P. Clausen is rearing and shipping enemies of the citrus white fly; and O. C. McBride and assistants are engaged at Honolulu with parasitism of the Mediterranean fruit fly. There seems to be an antidote for every poison, needing only discovery and application.

Riverside High Defeated 33-12 by Covina Colts

Trouncing Riverside for the fourth Citrus Belt victory of the 1930 season on the Riverside high school grid field Friday, November 7th, the Covina Colts won an easy game by a score of 32 to 12.

The Colts opened up by making three touchdowns in the first quarter. Fischer passed to Griffin for 30 yards for the first score, ran over Riverside's goal line himself for the second, an dpassed again to Hamilton from the 15-yard line for the third.

Wad Timmons ran across for a fourth touchdown in the second quarter; and Fischer pushed over for the fifth tally in the last quarter.

So easy was the game for the Colts' first string men that Coach Gorrell put in second and third teams during a large part of the play, and it was during part of this time that Riverside made its first two touchdowns of the year. Williams and Llamas, quarterbacks, made their scores in the third and fourth quarters.

Covina made 213 yards in scrimmage to Riverside's 90 yards; and 92 yards in forward passing to the opponents' 23 yards. Covina piled up twelve first downs to Riverside's four.

Of interest to local fans was the tying of Redlands and Pomona the same afternoon, 6 to 6. Pomona, rated as much the superior team to Redlands, will be Covina's last Citrus Belt league rival, due for a clash in Pomona next Friday afternoon, November 21st.

Playing Whittier high, who now top the Foothill league with four games won and none lost, on Armistice Day, Pomona high was defeated 28 to 13. It is remembered that earlier in the season Whittier high played Covina in this city and won over the Colts 15 to 6.

Present standings in the league are as follows:

	W.	L.	T.	Pct.
Covina	4	0	0	1.000
Chaffey	3	1	0	.750
Pomona	1	2	2	.500
San Bernardino	1	2	1	.250
Redlands	0	2	2	.000
Riverside	0	3	1	.000

Azusa Rotary Visited by District Governor

A delegation of Rotarians visited the Azusa club Monday, the occasion being the yearly visitation of the district governor, Arthur Crites of Bakersfield. Mr. Crites is known thruout the state, not only being a banker in Kern county, but was formerly Masonic grand master of the state.

Monday he delivered an address setting forth the benefits of the work of various social service clubs. He will visit the Covina club later during his year of office.

JUST a tasteless dose of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in water. That is an alkali, effective yet harmless. It has been the standard antacid for 50 years. One spoonful will neutralize at once many times its volume in acid. It's the right way, the quick, pleasant and efficient way to kill all the excess acid. The stomach becomes sweet, the pain departs. You are happy again in five minutes.

Don't depend on crude methods. Employ the best way yet evolved in all the years of searching. That is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. Be sure to get the genuine.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of the Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

REMEMBER OR FORGET

By Hamilton Aide

I sat beside the streamlet,
I watched the water flow,
As we together watched it
One little year ago;
The soft rain pattered on the leaves,
The April grass was wet.
Ah! folly to remember;
'Tis wiser to forget.

The nightingales made vocal
June's palace paved with gold;
I watched the rose you gave me
Its warm red heart unfold;
But breath of rose and bird's song
Were fraught with wild regret.
'Tis madness to remember;
'Twere wisdom to forget.

I stood among the gold corn,
Alas! no more, I knew,
To gather gleaner's measure
Of the love that fell from you.
For me, no gracious harvest—
Would God we ne'er had met!
'Tis hard, Love, to remember,
But 'tis harder to forget.

The streamlet now is frozen,
The nightingales are fled,
The cornfields are deserted,
And every rose is dead.
I sit beside my lonely fire,
And pray for wisdom yet:
For calmness to remember,
Or courage to forget.

EDUCATION

We spend more money for education than for anything else, but there are still hundreds of thousands, if not millions, of American grown-ups who have never learned to read or write. The death the other day of Thomas Young, whose occupation was that of "public writer," in a good-sized town close to New York city, revealed the fact that hundreds of persons in White Plains who could not write were in the habit of going to him to write their letters for them.

In New York state alone, by the census of 1920, there were 425,000 persons over 10 years old who could neither read nor write, and all but 10,000 of these were over 21. Nor were they all foreigners; more than 30,000 were native-born whites. The number is probably smaller now; the 1930 census figures on illiteracy are not yet available. But there were more than three million white folks over ten years old, and nearly two million negroes, who could not read in any language, in 1920, and the probability is that there are still three or four million illiterate citizens.

BOULDER

Things are moving in the Hoover dam project at Boulder canyon on the Colorado river. Power lines are about to be run to the site, to furnish energy for the handling of the immense masses of stone and concrete which will be required to build the dam. Engineers are being appointed, plans have been made for the town to house the ten thousand workmen who will be employed on the job, bids have been asked for some of the materials which will be first required.

It takes time to carry out a great project like this. Five and one-half years is the lowest estimate from the day construction begins until the great dam is finished. It takes a lot of time to prepare to begin work.

That is the difficulty about relying upon public works to relieve a sudden stress of unemployment—it takes so much time to plan them and provide for financing them that by the time the work is ready to begin the period of unemployment may be almost over.

SUGAR

The announcement by the department of agriculture that the federal sugar cane experiment station at Canal Point, Florida, has developed a cane which yields a third more sugar to the acre than any previously known variety, and is at the same time resistant to cane diseases, is of importance to everyone in the United States. We consume several times as much sugar as any other nation in the world. Our sugar producers have had difficulty in competing with foreign sources. The sugar industry in Louisiana was practically wiped out a few years ago by plant diseases; the Mississippi flood of 1928 almost finished the job. But the introduction of a new type of sugar cane from Java, known as "P. O. J. 213," has rejuvenated the Louisiana sugar industry, which is now producing five times as much sugar as in 1926.

The new cane developed in Florida, called "C. P. 807," yields a ton more sugar to the acre of cane than does "P. O. J. 213." That should mean, eventually, both a reduction in cost of sugar to the consumer and better profits to the grower.

FRAUD

A Florida man shipped a carload of oranges to a produce dealer in Virginia. The dealer sent the shipper a check for $250. The Florida man invoked the recently-enacted federal produce agency law and haled the dealer into the federal court. The proceedings disclosed the fact that the net proceeds of the sale of the oranges was nearer $700 than $250. The court ordered the dealer to pay the shipper and additional $463, with interest, and to pay it before November 4 or go to jail.

It looks as if there is at last a way in which shipper of farm products can get the money due them. State and local laws don't protect them; they operate in favor of the local dealer and against the shipper from another state. The federal courts are not subject to local influences, and the new law seems to have teeth in it.

Mrs. Tom Reed of Covina boulevard attended Wednesday a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Loren Erick in Pasadena.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Reed and children were among the Covina football fans who attended the game between the high schools of Covina and Bakersfield on Armistice day.

Guest From East Entertained Here

Sophomores Lose to Riverside 15-0

(From Cardinal and White)
The Covina sophomores lost their fourth game to Riverside by a score of 15 to 0 on the home field on Thursday, November 6.

All scores were made in the last three quarters.
Butcher blocked Coiner's punt and recovered the ball behind the goal line for a safety in the second quarter. Riverside later made another drive down the field, to be held on the two-yard line.

In the third quarter Keyes intercepted a lateral pass from Mauer on Covina's 12-yard line and ran for a touchdown. A pass from Coiner was intercepted by Sawhata on Covina's 38-yard line and run to the six-yard line. On the fourth down Barham put the ball over for a tally.

The lineups:
Covina: Coiner, Robinson, Longworth, Lanphear, Lang, Gardener, Battersby, Nitate, Anderson, Kennedy, Mole.
Riverside: Keyes, Jones, Butcher, Killday, Bolton, Barum, Massengale, Himes, Thomson, Ochiala, Sawhata.

The following teachers were seen among the spectators at the Bakersfield-Covina game: Miss Marie Speyer, Miss Beulah Yeager, Miss Frances Adams, Miss Lelah Baxter, Ben S. Millikan, Harold Gauldin.

GIRLS ATTEND ANNUAL JINX FRIDAY NIGHT

Program and Dancing Features of Evening

(From Cardinal and White)
Coming as the big event of the year for the Girls' League, the annual Hi-Jinx and dance were held at the high school auditorium Friday evening, November 7. The program consisted of nine skits. Due to a number of the performers arriving late from the game the curtain did not rise until 8 o'clock. The program, presented to an audience composed of girls, their mothers and friends, was opened with the play, "Rosalia," given by the Girls' League executive committee. The characters were: Madame Bol, played by Ruby Runyan; Monsieur Bol, played by Mildred Towner; and Rosalia, the maid, played by Leila Rodman.

The first skit in the freshman group was a reading by Carol Cree, after which Mildred Towner, Girls' League president, welcomed the mothers.

Amos n' Andy Present
Helen Wilke and Betty Van Ginkel, 9A's, gave an Amos and Andy interpretation of "The Great Reducing Powder Mystery." The 9B skit, called "A Pleasure Ride," was complete, even to the flat tires. Those who took part were Anita Bailey, Joan Hunter, Janet Ingalls, Eleanor Brown, Helen Gittings, Ruth Harsh, Lila Reed, Ruth Schiefelbock, Josephine Herbert, Monica Perram, and Louise Hodges. Following this was a 9A skit, "The Cake Shop Romance," presented by Mary Louise Cook, Phyllis Gillespie, Phyllis Koch, Matilda Bravender, and Dorothy Michel.

A play, "Our Aunt From California," was the sophomore offering. The characters were the aunt, played by Elberta Jeans; Sally Needy, played by Patricia Conlon; Felicia Needy, played by Nancy Milliken; Rosalia Needy, played by Virginia Ross; Mrs. Needy, played by Laura Baxter; the dressmaker, played by Jean McCarty; and the maid, played by Jacqueline Tull.

Jokes Given
The senior stunt which followed consisted of jokes presented by characters indicated by using different hats. Those who took part were Dorothy Edwards, Grace Roscoe, Margaret Jean Millikan, Helen McCarty, Clara Coles, Dorothy Gates, Caroline Polhemus, and Ruth Gustafson. This was followed by an hilarious grand opera impersonation by Lena Litchenberg.

The last stunt, which was voted the best by the audience, was presented by the faculty women and was called "Familiar Glimpses of Covina Students at the Bakersfield Game." After the stage was set by Paul De Armen in the person of Miss Beulah Yeager, the following were seen coming to the game: Norman Clippinger (Miss Marjorie Peacock), Arlene Root (Miss Blanche McCormick), Clara Coles (Miss Myrtle Jones), Jeanne Wright (Mrs. Jennie Daniels), Mary Cox (Miss Ethel Taacker), Ruth Webb (Miss Fannie Burt), Sis Bedford (Miss Lola Baxter), Harvey Boling (Miss Laura Niles), Luther Peters (Miss Nina Thompson), and the yell king, Eugene Hawkins (Miss Frances Adams).

Prizes Awarded
The program was announced by Arlene Root, program chairman. After the skits the audience and performers adjourned to the gym, where prizes were awarded to Grace Roscoe for the most original costume, Josephine Herbert for the tackiest costume, and Tatsuko Ito for the most beautiful costume. Refreshments were served, after which the girls danced.

Lightweights Downed in Hard Contest

(From Cardinal and White)
The Covina lightweights were snowed under by El Monte 33 to 7, in a one-sided game, on Wednesday, November 5, on the victors' field. El Monte scored three touchdowns in the first quarter and one each in the second and third.

Covina's only score came in the fourth quarter, when Green went over the line.

Pearson was the star for El Monte, having good interference, and he is also able to move when he is in the open.

The lineups:
Covina: Coe, McNatt, Seaver, Knorr, Foto, Snyder, Phippen, Yamamoto, Howard, Green, Peers.
El Monte: Muller, Cowan, Sanelers, Logswell, Garcia, Escarjour, Allen, Gallero, Pearson, J. Tunstall, H. Tunstall.

Uncle Sam Goes to Sea Again

American Flag Now Flies in Every Port in the World—British Our Only Rival

By Caleb Johnson

Uncle Sam has taken to the sea again.

We have been hearing a great deal about the American merchant marine, these past few years, but few realize the extent to which shipping flying our national flag has regained the commanding position on the high seas that it used to occupy before the age of steam.

Before the great war there were so few American ships sailing to foreign shores that our flag was almost totally unknown in many of the most important ports of the world. For nearly sixty years that condition had been getting worse from year to year.

Today the United States ranks second only to Great Britain in the number of our ships engaged in foreign commerce, and only Great Britain exceeds us in the annual volume of ship construction. And that condition is getting better, from our point of view, from year to year.

In the old days of wooden sailing ships the United States led the world. In the first 75 years of our national existence Yankee shipyards built more craft than were built anywhere else. Our shipbuilders and designers strove to improve their models, until in the 1850's the Yankee clippers, the towering wooden sailing craft which penetrated to the utmost reaches of the globe, were the fastest and most profitable merchantmen afloat. They were at once the admiration and the despair of the British, our only rivals on the seven seas.

Then three things happened, almost at once. The iron ship and the screw propeller were introduced into the shipbuilding picture, and the United States became embroiled in a war between the states.

So long as ships were built of wood and propelled by sails, we had the advantage over everybody else; we had the timber, and the workmen, and the expert knowledge of ship construction; we also had a population living almost entirely along the seacoast, with a natural taste for the sea, and from this coastal population we could man our ships with the best navigators and sailors to be found anywhere.

When it came to manufactures of iron and steel, we were woefully behind Great Britain. We had built a good many steamships, to be sure, but they were mostly sidewheel craft for river and coastwise use and unfit for voyage to China, India, and around the Horn, in the wake of the old sailing clippers. We had not trained up a body of seagoing engineers who understood machinery. And just as these innovations began to demonstrate that the day of the wooden sailing ship was past, all of our national energies were concentrated upon our own internal war.

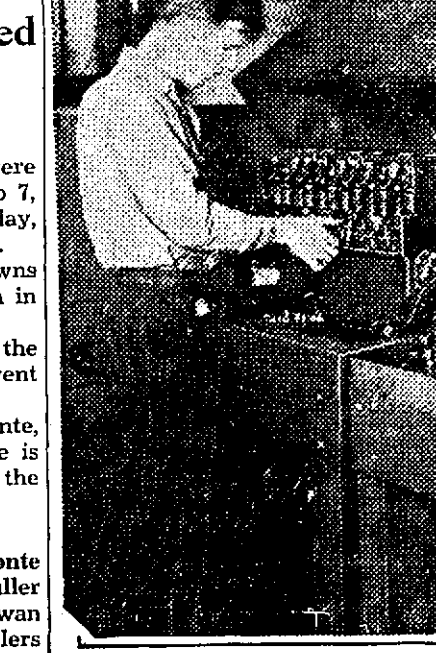

The Civil war over, we found that the British had captured our foreign carrying trade with their iron steamships. We did not worry very much, for we had the problem before us of opening up and developing our own west. Steel ships succeeded iron, but it was almost fifty years before we had developed sources of iron

Mrs. D. B. Roscoe entertained with a birthday party for her daughter Grace, at the Chapel Inn in Monrovia Saturday night, November 8. Arlene Root, Norman Clippinger and Orville Hickenlooper were present.

James Randack entertained with a party for a group of thirty-six friends at the Mountain Meadows club, Tuesday, November 4.

Miss Lois Blackburn and Miss Charline Mock entertained with a theater party for the women of the faculty on Thursday, November 6, at the Glendora Mission theatre, when they saw George Arliss in "Old English." After the play they returned to Covina for refreshments at Miss Blackburn's home.

200,000 Tests at Studebaker

Over 200,000 tests and inspections are made yearly by Studebaker to assure high quality in its product. Inspections start with the raw material, steels, lacquers, upholstery material—virtually everything Studebaker buys. For example, samples of shipments of valve springs are put into test motors running at high speed (above). For hours these valve springs are operated at speeds equal to 55 miles per hour on the road, to make sure they satisfy Studebaker specifications.

Chamber Helps in Woman's Club Benefit Dinner

In cooperation with the Covina Woman's club, which organization plans to serve a five-dollar banquet at the clubhouse tomorrow evening, the chamber of commerce held a dinner Monday night in the new Longworth dining hall, attended by about twenty people, all of whom offered their services in helping to sell tickets to the dinner.

Henry Damerel and Ben Thorpe, who arranged the campaign, typed out names of all Covinans who might be prospects for attendance, by using the telephone directory as a guide. These names, on individual cards with address and telephone number, were distributed among those present at the meeting for calling. Individuals were then arranged in groups of three each.

Two breakfasts were also held Wednesday and Thursday mornings of this week by the chamber in order that campaigners might know how their sale was progressing.

The proceeds, as has heretofore been announced, will apply on the principal of indebtedness still outstanding. Mrs. Irvn Reynolds is chairman of club dinner, arrangements.

"White Elephants" Wanted for Market

In speaking of the community Christmas market to be sponsored by the Woman's club November 22, Mrs. Mary M. Coman, who is in charge of the affair, says that not many of those living in Covina have ever seen a white elephant from Siam, but that almost every housekeeper has on a top shelf or in the far corner of a bureau drawer, some article for which she has no further use, altho it may be attractive and even useful to someone else. Such articles are known in housekeepers' parlance as "white elephants," and those in charge of a special table at the sale, Mrs. Percy Jackson and Miss Elizabeth Elliott, are asking for all such things. It is expected that this table will be one of the most interesting and profitable of the entire market. Anything of this sort can be left at the clubhouse early Saturday morning, November 22, or if this is not convenient, any of the above women will call for them if notified.

Some questioning has arisen about the forthcoming community Christmas market. Four or five years ago some of the local club women, realizing that Covina had no woman's exchange and that the small producer of any commodity, whether that producer be an individual or organization, has little opportunity to dispose profitably of the products, started this plan of an annual market held in a central location, when as many as desired could bring their articles for sale, with only sufficient commission charged to cover rent of clubhouse, heat and light. It has always met a real need both of producer and purchaser.

Lions Meet in New Banquet Room

A. H. Longworth served on Monday, to the Lions club, the first dinner in the banquet room of his new location. He was also serving short orders and dinners on the main floor to his regular customers. The new building provides the only second floor banquet room in connection with a cafe in Covina. Mr. Longworth has also installed better equipment for the culinary department.

Miss Elliott Home From European Trip—

Miss Elizabeth Elliott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Elliott of Section Center, returned last week from Europe, where she spent the summer, visiting Italy, Germany, France, Belgium, England and Holland.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd King attended the Pomona-Whittier football game held Armistice day at Whittier college. Following the game they were guests of Pomona graduates at a supper party given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. LaFollette in Whittier.

Dr. and Mrs. Elmer King spent Tuesday in Los Angeles.

Mrs. A. W. Hamilton and daughter, Helen, and Jean Mathers, with Jean Veech of Hollywood, attended the Bakersfield-Covina football game in Bakersfield Tuesday, returning to Hollywood to spend the night.

Please, for your own advantage, go right now and mark your calendar date of November 22, so you reserve it for the community Christmas market, all day, at the clubhouse. Advertisement. 1t

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Morrow and daughter, Lorraine, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Coffman and family, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Simpson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Casey and family made a party that attended the football game Tuesday between Covina and Bakersfield high schools, going by train.

Valley Bank Women Attend Breakfast

Misses Lucile Glogie and Virgie Wilson of the First National bank, Ruth Laws and Margaret Orndoff of the First National bank of Azusa, attended a meeting at the Woman's Athletic club, Los Angeles, Sunday at 11 o'clock, by the National Association of Bank Women. The affair, in the form of a breakfast-luncheon, was honoring the national president, Miss Grace Stoerner of Los Angeles, and other national officers of the association who were guests on the occasion. Among the speakers were such well-known women of the southland as Mrs. Oda Faulconer, toastmistress, Mab Copeland Line-man, who spoke on "Women and the Law," Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, talking on "We and Our Motion Pictures," and Dr. Marian Van Waters, now on President Hoover's staff, on "The Twentieth Century Woman and Modern Civic Problems."

"Three Faces East" Opens at Mission House

"Three Faces East," Warner Bros.' talking picture version of the sensational stage hit, appears at the Mission theater Friday and Saturday. Featuring Eric von Stroheim and Constance Bennett, it reveals the inner workings of the great spy systems engaged in the World war. The time is autumn of 1917, and the place, England and the western front.

Joan Bennett, Joe E. Brown, James Hall and Laura Lee take parts in "Maybe It's Love," a snappy collegiate comedy romance that appears at Glendora Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. Lending authenticity to the picture, a football team taking part in the plot is composed of the greatest gridiron stars in the country, selected from "all-American" choices of the past year.

"Scarlet Pages," with Elsie Ferguson, John Halliday, Marian Nixon and Grant Withers, is scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday. Miss Ferguson makes her talking picture debut in this picture, and portrays the role of the mother and brilliant criminal lawyer, who unhesitatingly ruins her career for her daughter's sake.

TED COMAN ATTENDING CONVENTION IN OHIO

Ted Coman, who is attending Oregon State college, started yesterday for a three-weeks' eastern trip, attending the national convention of the journalism fraternity, the Sigma Delta Chi, at Columbus, Ohio, first, and later visiting relatives in Chicago and going to the Thanksgiving frame of his own college team with University of West Virginia and then stopping for two or three days, visiting his uncle, Edward M. Coman.

Four Hundred Old Trees Being Cut on Citrus

Dr. E. P. Felt, editor of the Journal of Economic Entomology, citing facts in regard to shade trees in the United States and their valuation, states that streets and highways of this country have 312,000,000 such shade trees planted in more-or-less congested districts; and he places a nominal value of $20 on each. These figures would make the nation's shade trees worth a staggering sum of $6,240,000,000.

That shade trees are a valuable asset to any community is beyond doubt, and it is unfortunate that Covina must sacrifice one of the most beautiful rows of eucalyptus trees of the valley. As before announced, the Los Angeles county road department is removing 410 tall eucalyptus trees on North Citrus avenue between Alosta and Broadway that have stood for forty-five years and have been admired by hundreds of residents and out-of-state visitors.

The removal of the trees is preparatory to the widening of Citrus avenue between Azusa and Covina, to be undertaken in the near future by the county. W. D. Porter, highway engineer, is directing tree removal. After being cut down they are denuded of branches and cut into firewood by men from the Foot-hill ranch on which property the trees are located.

Insofar as the development of traffic veins is directly necessary to and resultant from growth and improvement of communities and as long as space for widening could not be found in some other spot than that occupied by the trees, their removal is warranted. Many local residents, too, have known North Citrus to be dangerous in wet weather, as a result of the trees overhanging the way.

Still, as admirers of a naturally beautiful landscape which fortunately has been Covina's, one cannot but regret the passing of that famous lane.

Cassels Home From Trip to Europe

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Cassel of 1080 Indian Hill boulevard, Claremont, formerly of Ruddock street, Covina, have recently returned from a trip to Europe. Mr. Cassel went on business for the Orange Products company, and the sister organization, the Lemon By-Products plant of Corona, of which he is manager.

Mr. and Mrs. Cassel left early in July, spending several weeks in London, going on to Berlin, Leipzig, Dresden, and Hamburg. They found the unemployment situation more acute in England than in Germany, where little idleness was manifest.

On reaching the pier at New York Mr. and Mrs. Cassel were met by their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Anderson, the party making the trip west together.

Parent-Teacher Units Meet at Lark Ellen

The Lark Ellen Parent-Teacher association will meet Wednesday at the schoolhouse. The morning will be given to the child study hour and the meeting of the executive board. The Covina association will meet with the Lark Ellen chapter at 2:30 in the afternoon to hear Dr. Lulu Diest, who as a member of the county health department will give a lecture on "Better Health Habits," showing some of the work that can their entertainment and education. The entertainment and education.

Duplex Built on Covina Boulevard

Charles Ham, assistant cashier of the First National bank, has just completed a duplex on Covina boulevard, in the first block west of Citrus avenue. One side contains four rooms and the other side is a five-room apartment. The exterior is of stucco and the inside finish of interior stucco. R. C. Bigelow was the builder.

Mr. and Mrs. Ham will occupy one side of the duplex as their residence and will rent the other side.

THANKS TO ALL

We wish to thank the Rotary club, the Lions club, the chamber of commerce, the city board of trustees, the American Legion, the business men, the Covina Citizen and the Covina Argus, as well as others who were loyal in their support of our State Horseshoe Pitchers' tournament, held in this city October 30th and 31st, and November 1st.

DR. CALDWELL'S THREE RULES

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not habit forming. The Doctor never did approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. Use Syrup Pepsin for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, bad breath, no appetite, headache, and to break up fevers and colds. Get a bottle today, at any drugstore and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open. For a free trial bottle, just write "Syrup Pepsin," Dept. BB, Monticello, Illinois.

Rose Hill Mausoleum Dedication Announced

On Sunday, November 16th, at 2:30 o'clock, the new mausoleum at Rose Hills memorial park will be formally dedicated. An inspiring program has been arranged by Dr. Walter F. Dexter, president of Whittier college, who is chairman of the dedication program committee. Representatives of practically every religious denomination in southern California will be present at the service. That the dedication of the new achievement at Rose Hills has a civic appeal is attested by the fact that practically every chamber of commerce official of the southland has indicated they will be present at the dedicatory service.

Educational leaders plan to attend in large numbers, and the various fraternal organizations of the district will also participate in the event, which marks another milestone in the development of the great memorial ideal that is being realized at Rose Hills memorial park.

Arrangements are being made at the park to take care of a large crowd. Direction cards are being placed along the major highways and intersections to facilitate the motorist who has never before visited this district. Delegations are coming from Long Beach, Hollywood, Pasadena, and practically every other center of population within a radius of fifty miles. The dedication of the new mausoleum has far exceeded a purely local interest, and has become an event of interest to all of southern California.

The mausoleum is considered by architectural critics to be one of the most beautiful in America. With its distinctly mission style and its prominent location in the rolling hills that rise from the floor of the San Gabriel valley, the mausoleum is established as a landmark that is a distinct credit to the west. Rose Hills memorial park is destined to be one of the great memorial institutions of America, and the dedication of the mausoleum marks an occasion of widespread interest.

On the program Sunday will be included several of the most inspiring speakers of the west, including Dr. Bruce R. Baxter, of the University of Southern California, and Dr. Stewart P. MacLennan, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Hollywood. A delightful program of musical numbers will be given by Miss Vera Barstow, violinist; Frank Gelger, baritone; and the Petite Symphony. Rose Hills memorial park is located on Workman Mill road, Whittier boulevard, and one-half mile north of Beverly boulevard. The board of governors have extended a cordial invitation to all who desire to attend the dedicatory services.

Fruit Exchange Issues Annual Citrus Summary

During the season of 1929-30 the total supply of oranges and grapefruit in markets of the United States and Canada showed a decided reduction from that of the preceding year and of most recent years, states the annual report of the California Fruit Growers exchange in summary of results of the fiscal year for citrus fruits. Both the California and Florida crops were light, but Porto Rico production, while not large in total, had recovered from the hurricane damage of 1926 and receipts from there were about normal. The Texas production is increasing but as yet is not sufficient to materially affect the total.

With this lighter supply and generally favorable weather conditions for shipment and distribution of the crop, the highest unit prices in recent years prevailed, and the crop as a whole brought the largest return to California in the history of the industry. Considering the lessened buying power and generally low prices prevailing on other perishable crops, much of this favorable result must be attributed to the increasing popularity of citrus fruits as a regular item of the diet.

Total citrus fruit shipments from California and Arizona were 59,656 cars compared with 88,363 in 1929; 59,833 in 1928 and 70,911 in 1927. The f. o. b. return on the entire crop, based upon exchange averages, was $135,309,352—approximately $18,000,000 more than for the large crop of last season and $5,000,000 more than in 1927-28, the highest previous year.

Next season if the very large crops in prospect in California and Florida materialize, the united effort of all should be had to market them to the best advantage. The Mediterranean fruit fly eradication campaign in Florida has been remarkably successful and unless new outbreaks occur, which seems improbable, Florida fruits and vegetables can be shipped practically without restriction thruout the entire United States this coming season, except to those states where individual quarantines are maintained for other reasons.

The exchange lemon crop also brought good returns—the total being about the same as that of the previous year. California shipments this year were less than in 1928-29, but because of Italian importations, the year's supply was the largest on record with two exceptions. The Hawley-Smoot tariff bill increased the duty on imported lemons from 2 cents to 2½ cents per pound, and it is expected that this will be helpful in reducing importations during the winter months when prices are usually low and California has a surplus supply.

Exchange shipments of grapefruit in 1929-30 totaled 1,634 cars, of which 39 per cent originated in southern California, 32 per cent in Arizona, 21 per cent in the California "desert" sections and 6 per cent in central-northern California. This compares with 956 cars in 1928-29. The crop of Florida grapefruit amounted to 16,812 cars, compared with 26,762 cars in 1928-29 and 17,564 in 1927-28. Receipts of Porto Rico grapefruit were increased over those of any season within the last ten years, amounting to the equivalent of 2,169 cars.

Total shipments of grapefruit from all sections of this country and imports were in excess of those of any season previous to 1928-29, amounting to 24,608 cars for the year ending August 31st.

The California Fruit Growers exchange this year included 77.7 per cent of the crop marketed.

"Santa Fe Trail" Runs at Covina Starting Sunday

At the Covina theater Friday and Saturday, Buck Jones appears on the screen in "Men Without Law," with Carmelita Geraghty, all-talking western.

Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, Richard Arlen appears in "The Santa Fe Trail," Paramount talking version of Hal G. Evarts' novel, "Spanish Acres." The scene of the story is a sixty by forty-mile western land grant in the days when each man carried the law in his own revolver. White men had cheated the Indians from their rights by surreptitiously filing claims, forcing them to retire, but not until they had visited a curse upon the intruding owners—around which the plot is woven. Eugene Pallette, Mitzi Green and Rosita Moreno are among the supporting cast.

Robert Montgomery, who has recently soared to fame on the silver screen, appears at the Covina theater Wednesday only in "Sins of the Children," drama of young love and indiscretion. This Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture ran for some time at the Tower theater, Los Angeles, and was witnessed by record crowds.

Clara Bow in "Her Wedding Night" is scheduled for Thursday of next week.

Club Associates Meet at Luncheon

Mrs. Clay Beattie entertained a group of friends at luncheon Wednesday at her home on Rowland avenue, preceding the meeting of the garden section of the Woman's club, which was held at her home. The women at the luncheon have all worked together at different times in the garden section and have studied floriculture and were among the early members of the section. Mrs. Beattie used autumn leaves in decoration of her dining room, place-cards being made of persimmon leaves. Covers were laid for Mmes. J. D. Bixby, A. I. Holly, F. W. Gail, W. W. Nash, F. O. Frazier, F. P. Baldasser, E. F. Gloege, William Griswold, and A. W. Lee.

Minister's Father to Preach Sunday

Rev. W. D. Crewdson and wife of Iowa arrived in Covina last Friday and are guests of their son, W. Dow Crewdson, and family of West Center street. Mr. Crewdson, Sr., is pastor of an Iowa church and was granted a leave of absence for the visit in California. The senior minister will preach at the Christian church next Sunday morning, filling the pulpit for his son.

CHRISTMAS FARES MADE BY SOUTHERN PACIFIC

In order to permit Californians to visit their relatives and friends in the east, Christmas excursion fares will be sold December 16th to 22nd, inclusive, with final return limit January 15th, according to an announcement made yesterday by G. W. Wetherby, district passenger agent, Southern Pacific lines.

These excursion fares will permit a choice of routes going one way and returning another. Stopovers will be allowed at points enroute.

Watch out for RED SCALE!

RED SCALE is conceded to be the most serious scale insect affecting citrus. Light infestations may escape detection except where a very careful inspection is made. The rate of increase of this insect is so rapid that even a few live insects are a menace to your crop and your grove.

Results from fumigation on Red Scale average higher than from any other method... a fact which has been repeatedly proved by carefully-made scale counts in all Red Scale districts.

It is not too late to control Red Scale this season. Hundreds of acres are fumigated each Winter with good results.

Make your plans now. See your fumigator and arrange to have the work done when the scale are in proper condition.

Another Amazing Victory Won With the Motoring Public

Setting a dazzling pace, the sales of Gilmore Blu-Green Gasoline have set an unprecedented record of increases for 29 successive months... the most astounding rise to popularity ever attained by any gasoline.

These successive victories have been won in the face of keenest competition with the motoring public at the wheel... not by trained racing drivers in special built racers, nor by specialists in mad dashes through the air or on the water.

By actual demonstration the superiority of this patented U. S. Patent No. 1654259 carbon eliminating gasoline has convinced 276,631 motorists that it is the best for daily use.

Try it for a few hundred miles... you'll notice how much better your car will run. Insist on the genuine Gilmore Blu-Green Gasoline from the familiar cream and red pump at Independent Service Stations and Garages. Don't be fooled by imitations.

YARDAGE GAINED

Happy Rauschenbach made 97 1/2 yards in scrimmage, Doug Fischer made 77 1/2, and Wad Timmons, 73. Fischer threw all but one of Covina's five successful passes to Griffin, gaining a total of 74 yards. Timmons threw the other to Hamilton. Five other passes were incomplete and two were intercepted.

Payne made 127 yards in scrimmage; Delfino, 47; Rankin, 13; and O'Brien, 8. Payne threw two successful passes to Lahey, one of which resulted in a touchdown; and Finn, substitute full, threw two other successful passes, one to Lahey and the other to Hawkins. Bakersfield's four successful passes out of seven attempted gained them 56 yards. One other was intercepted and the remaining two were incomplete.

First downs were: Covina, 12; Bakersfield, 9. Covina blocked two Bakersfield kicks during play; was penalized only four times to Bakersfield's six; and fumbled two times, as did Bakersfield.

Covina Artists on Program for Breakfast Club

Covina members of the Foothill Breakfast club took charge of the program at the meeting Thursday morning. Hal Cook acted as toastmaster on the occasion, introducing Mme. Ellen Beach Yaw, who responded gracefully. The program following featured two artists from Fanchon and Marco productions, thru the courtesy of Mr. Marco.

Miss Francis White, professionally known as "Francina," sang two numbers, "Carmenia" and "Only a Rose," from the "Vagabond King." Crystal Levine gave an Egyptian dance in which she showed finished grace and beauty. Miss Margaret Nye, who recently returned from the Hawaiian islands, gave the native hula dance in costume, telling the story of the dance.

Evelyn Burall, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Burall of East Badillo street, gave two cleverly portrayed dances, a tap dance and a Bowery dance, both in costume. Mary Louise Cook, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Hal Cook, sang "Telling It to the Daisies," and "You Broke a New Kind of Love to Me." This last number is one made popular by Maurice Chevalier and Mary Louise sang the number first in her own manner, following it by an imitation of Chevalier.

Couple Surprised on Anniversary

Rev. and Mrs. H. T. Lewis of West College street were given a happy surprise Sunday morning, the occasion being their thirty-fourth wedding anniversary.

Seventeen friends from Owensmouth, a former pastorate of Rev. Lewis, arrived before the morning service, bringing with them viands for a dinner and a large wedding cake bearing a miniature bride and groom and a ring. After the Methodist service a table was set in the church parlors, where dinner was served.

Among the guests was Frank Knapp, a Swiss woodcarver who has done notable work, some of which may be seen in the San Gabriel playhouse and more in the Mission inn at Riverside. Mr. Knapp is a cousin of Anton Lang, who took the part of Christ in the Oberammergau play produced last year. Another distinguished guest was Mrs. Letta Dixon Burgess, composer and poet, and Miss Lucille West, winner of a recent tri-state vocal contest for high school students.

Dirigible's Safety Questioned

Disaster to R-101 Might Have Been Averted Had Helium Gas Been Used

By CALEB JOHNSON

The tragedy of the British airship "R-101," which caught fire and was destroyed with the loss of 47 lives on October 5th, brings to the fore the question whether the dirigible is, after all, any safer than the airplane.

The answer of the advocates of the dirigible is that, in proportion to the number of each type of aircraft in the air, there have been fewer fatal accidents in dirigibles than in heavier-than-air flying crafts, and that the demonstrated ability of such airships as the Los Angeles, the Graf Zeppelin and the R-100 to cross oceans safely, even to travel around the world, battling against storms which would certainly have wrecked any airplane, weighs the balance in favor of the balloon or lighter-than-air craft.

Just what caused the accident to the R-101 may never be definitely known. All that is certain is that, in a heavy storm over northern France, the ship touched the top of a low hill and burst into flames, only seven of her personnel of 53 escaping with their lives, and some of those seriously burned. What caught fire was not the fuel of the airship's motors, for those were of the Diesel type, using heavy oil instead of gasoline.

The flames which destroyed the craft were of blazing hydrogen, the gas with which the ship was filled to make it lighter than air.

It seems certain that if the R-101 had been filled with helium instead of hydrogen, the crash probably would have had no fatal results. The ship did not fall from a height, but was driven close to the ground by the weight of a heavy rain, and did not respond to her elevating rudder promptly enough to enable the pilot to avoid a small hill which loomed up in front. But the shock was sufficient, apparently, to start a leak in the hydrogen bags, escaping hydrogen came in contact with fires or a spark, and the instant intense conflagration followed.

Whether the fact that this was the first airship on which smoking was permitted had anything to do with the fire probably will never be known. On all other hydrogen-filled dirigibles, smoking or even the possession of matches is most strictly prohibited because of the fire danger. In the German navy during the war any member of the crew found to have matches or smoking material on board was summarily executed. On the R-101 a special smoking room had been fitted up for her passengers, which on this trip, the first attempt at a dirigible flight from England to India, included Lord Thomson, the British minister of war, and one of his chief aides. This was believed to be perfectly safe, and it may have had nothing to do with the accident. Observers on the ground who saw the dirigible fly over Beauvais, France, just before the crash, told of seeing flames shooting from the engine exhausts, and it may easily have been from that source that the leaking hydrogen was ignited.

Aeronautical experts are substantially unanimous in the belief that such an accident could not have occurred had the ship used helium instead of hydrogen for lifting power. That was impossible for a British ship, however, for the only known large supply of helium gas is in the United States, and not only is its production controlled exclusively by the United States government, but its export to other countries is forbidden by law. The Los Angeles, our largest aircraft, is lifted by helium, and the same gas will be used for the two new dirigibles being built for our navy at Akron. Helium is only a trifle heavier than hydrogen, but considerably lighter than air.

The trouble with the R-101 apparently was in her design. She was too heavy for her engines, according to engineers who watched her construction.

from returning to Berlin on the dirigible.

The R-101 was far from being a sister ship of the R-100, which recently flew from England to Canada and back safely. She had much more luxurious accommodations for passengers, for one thing, than any previous aircraft.

The passengers could easily have imagined they were on an ocean liner instead of an airship. The upper deck was roomy, with an area of 5500 square feet, while on each side was a promenade with railings like those of a ship. The chief difference was that, instead of being in the open air, the R-101's passengers were inside the envelope and could view the panorama below them thru windows in the outer cover. Nevertheless the illusion was cleverly maintained with tea tables, flowers and easy chairs.

The comfort and luxury of the interior could not hide the fact, however, that the passengers were hopelessly trapped in event of disaster. They were not in an outer gondola, with outside windows, as on the Graf Zeppelin. They were trusting their lives to the hull built inside the gas bag and outer envelope. The only escape was to slash a way thru two walls of fabric or run along the inner corridor to the nose of the ship.

On the upper deck were two berth cabins from which the sleeping passengers were hurled to their deaths. There was also washing accommodations, with hand-basins arranged in cubicles.

One explanation among the many possible ones is that sparks caused by the contact of the steel girders of the ship with each other may have set the hydrogen afire. In all other dirigibles some alloy of aluminum

Interesting Trip Made by Party to Death Valley

Dr. and Mrs. Robert P. Miller, accompanied by Dr. and Mrs. Charles D. Samuels, made an interesting four-day trip over the week-end to Death Valley.

Saturday night was spent at Lone Pine, the party leaving early Sunday morning by way of Keeler to the valley, arriving at Furnace Creek inn to spend Sunday night. Here they found a celebration in progress. On Monday they went thru Daylight pass to the old mining town of Rhyolite. This ghost city was once a thriving town of ten or fifteen thousand inhabitants. Bank and store buildings, residences and hotels stand empty, and the deserted gold mine nearby is open for tourist inspection. It is here that is located the bottle house, made entirely of beer bottles with the small ends of the bottles pointed out and piled row upon row to make the walls.

The party went on to Death Valley Scotty's home, where they were the guests over Monday night of the caretakers, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Johnson. They were shown thru the castle, thru the underground passages and the entire estate and called upon Scotty at his "shack," the owner being most hospitable and urging them to stay longer. Scotty's stories of desert life and the happenings of the community are so interesting that the party found it hard to leave in time to return to Covina Tuesday night.

Covina's Figure in Auto Crash

In a collision occurring at 11:30 Tuesday morning at the corner of Citrus avenue and Workman street, a Ford touring car driven by Harry Bowers and carrying three of the Conlon boys, Eddie, Billie and Bob, was turned over, pinning them underneath. Fortunately none of them was seriously hurt.

The corner of Citrus and Workman is closed in by orange trees, making it impossible to see up or down the crossroad until almost inside the intersection. The boys were going south on Citrus at the time in their Ford and Stanley Shaver was driving west on Workman in his Buick sedan when they ran together.

Orchestra Invited to Play at Institute

(From Cardinal and White)

The high school orchestra has been invited to play at one session of the Los Angeles county teachers' institute which is to be held in Los Angeles from December 15 to 19, according to Leslie Clausen, orchestra leader.

Following is the program which will be presented: "Soldiers' Chorus" from "Faust," by Guonod; "Tres Jolie," by Walteufel; "Peer Gynt Suite," by Grieg; and "Mignonette Overture," by Vaumann.

Eunice Merrill and Mary Cox spent the past week-end in Los Angeles.

Eleanor Longworth was the house guest of Lena Lichtenberg over the week-end.

Clara Coles and Jeanne Wright attended a dinner dance at Pomona Saturday night, November 8.

Robert Viney underwent an operation for appendicitis Friday, October 31.

Mildred Towner, Virginia Deeter, Jeanne Wright and Jack Beardslee visited the zoo in San Gabriel canyon Wednesday, November 5.

has been used for the framing, instead of steel.

While the disaster will of course impede the progress of airship construction, by making it more difficult for governments to obtain grants of funds with which to build such craft, those most familiar with the whole subject still pin their faith on the lighter-than-air ship as the ultimate means of travel by air.

White House Conference Statistics Show Increase in Life Expectancies; Drop in Infant Deaths

Washington, D. C.—The boy baby whose economic value at birth has been estimated by statisticians as $9,333 in a family with an income of $2,500 a year may logically expect to have ten years more of living than the 1910 baby.

This is revealed by figures presented by experts of the White House Conference on Child Health and Protection which will meet in Washington November 19-22.

Further encouraging statistics supplied by the experts reveal that in 1929 the infant mortality rate dropped to 66.2 deaths among each 1,000 births, the second lowest ever recorded in the United States. President Hoover's purpose in calling the White House Conference on Child Health and Protection, according to Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, Secretary of the Interior and chairman of the Conference, is to find out exactly what conditions of child education, health and mental well-being prevail and what further steps ought to be taken.

"The United States Public Health Service has recently stated that in these enlightened days, no child need die of smallpox or diphtheria," the Secretary recalls, "also that it is possible to guard against typhoid by sanitary control of water and milk supplies; that children bitten by mad dogs may be saved by the Pasteur treatment."

"All this is splendid but as yet not every community knows how to make use of the precautions that are available and much still remains to be done in the way of research and investigation."

"In the findings of the Conference there will be given to the people of the United States the answer of the scientific world to President Hoover's challenge that it should produce some formula which will enable all those who care for children to mold the boys and girls of today into the stalwarts to whom we may safely entrust our hopes of the future."
